Artist Statement

As a designer, my goal is to convey emotion through experience whether it is viewing a piece of fine work or using a product. Everything has a unique vibe that is being portrayed. My work explores things that matter in my life or ideas that I want to share with others such as my interest in nature, daily routine, or reflective thoughts.

I would like viewers to experience new perspectives when they look at my work. Much of my work is a combination of both abstraction and realism. For example, in my painting, “Nature Mashup,” I paint in a more realistic style while it is also abstracted by the way two images are deconstructed and reconstructed into a new image. These combinations are key because it creates wonder in my work.

The color choices in my artwork have a relaxing feel, with very earthy tones and pastel colors. I use contrast often by choosing a very bold color with tonal colors. For example, in my skull “Occhiolism” piece, I have a bold navy background color with softer pastel colors on top in the triangle shapes. I also use negative space, shape, and typography consistently in my work. These appear in the “Occhiolism” piece, as well as the Lotea package and “The Paper Bag Collection.” I use a lot of shape and typography to present Lotea, while “The Paper Bag Collection” uses a lot of negative space.

ART HISTORY

"The history of art is the history of revivals" - Samuel Butler

ART 110 HISTORY OF WESTERN ART
This course will advance the belief that art is an inseparable way of understanding and expressing the world — equal to but distinct from other methods of inquiry and cermony. By charting the emergence of unique and continuous traditions of visual imagery from Chauvet to the last works of the Post-Modernists, this course will highlight canonical paintings and sculpture from major periods of Western culture. Focusing on the key innovations, personalities and styles of Western art, this general elective class will encourage a basic appreciation, analysis, recognition and interpretation of art.

ART 112 HISTORY OF MODERN DESIGN
This course will explore how humans interact with everyday products, environments and visual methods that we encounter on a daily basis. The course is a survey of design history beginning with the Arts and Crafts movement (1860-1900) through Post Modernism.
