Making Connections: Conversation, Composition, and Culture

Fall 2019, Dr. Katie
Ginsbach

In this course, students will have the opportunity to use their language skills in a real-world setting as they engage in conversations with Spanish speakers in the Green Bay Public Schools, including Danz Elementary. Through our discussions and written assignments, students will examine questions and issues facing the Hispanic population, and reflect on their own experiences while working closely with this community.

Race and Sex in Contemporary US Literature

Spring 2020, Dr.
AnaMaria Clawson

In this course, students will perform service work to consider how social issues surrounding race and gender shape our community. By reading four bodies of ethnic literature in conversation with their service, students will reflect on their experiences and apply our course terms. In doing so, they will examine how local issues are connected to systemic national problems.
