Jenny Scherer, at right

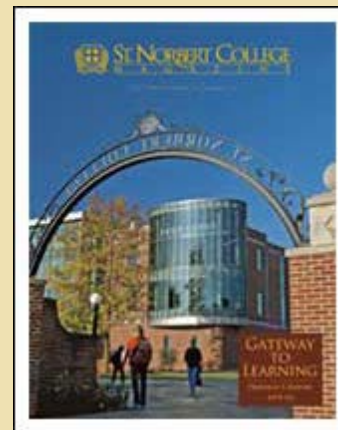

Keeping track

Student-athlete Jenny Scherer '10 has the inside scoop on track and field, and now the whole country knows it.

She developed a taste for blogging after she was invited to contribute to the National Collegiate Athletic Association's (NCAA) website.

Scherer is one of only two Division III bloggers for track and field. After the NCAA discontinued its student-athlete program, Scherer moved her blog to its own site and continues to write about just what life is like for the dedicated runner.
